INAPPROPRIATE USE OF ELECTRICAL CONTROL ROOMS ON CAMPUS

Management has observed that some electrical control rooms within the University have been converted to stores where abandoned papers, junks and other combustible unused items are kept.

Management wishes to advise the University community to ensure that the electrical control rooms are kept free from all forms of activities other than the intended purposes, in view of the attendant hazards to lives and property.

Consequently, all the electrical control rooms should be kept free from any extraneous material and they should be used for electrical activities alone.

Thank you
